Erin,

We have been using Vintra for a little over a year now. I believe our case use is a bit different than most other agencies. We generally use it for the review of DVR footage and covert cameras. We've found that using some of the features such as motion detection makes the initial search a little less daunting. Thus, we have a higher success rate of investigators watching the video and actually analysis it. We also like the 400+ codec feature. This helps when people give us random formats that we don't have the software for. There are many other helpful features that we don't currently use. We hope to expand into those areas this year.

As for stats, we don't track any at this time.

If you would like, we could have a quick call at some point to discuss how we use it in more detail.

Thanks,

Noah Mohny,

Good Afternoon. My department is considering purchasing Vintra's annual software pkg. We have the okay from the Chief, but he has asked that I reach out to a 'Vintra User' for any input you might have to add to what is displayed on the Vintra website. Do you have any before and after stats that reflect clearances or cost savings from the usage of Vintra? The Chief is asking me for 3 to 5 ways in which we can objectively evaluate its sustained usage by our department. I received your contact information from Courtney Donowho, one of Vintra's Account Executive. Any help you can give me would be very much appreciated.

Thank you,
